Career Resources for Rutgers Alumni

The Rutgers University Alumni Association (RUAA) offers many valuable resources to help our alumni, including help with career planning, job searching, graduate school applying, and more. All alumni, from recent graduates to those in the late stages of their career, will find these resources helpful.
CCAA Provides Opportunities for Alumni Involvement

The Cook Community Alumni Association (CCAA) is dedicated to supporting our alumni and students by conducting social and networking events, recognizing alumni achievements, philanthropy, and more. Learn how you can be involved by attending their next virtual meeting on January 25th.

Other Items of Interest

On Tuesday, March 15th, SEBS is holding a virtual information session for admitted and exploratory students. We would like to include a panel of alumni from various program backgrounds to offer these prospective students guidance and advice about their path as a student and how they can achieve success after graduating. If interested, contact Carl Leikhram, Assistant Dean of Recruitment and Advising, at cl1478@sebs.rutgers.edu for information.

Stay connected through the LinkedIn group for alumni of our school. You will find news, upcoming event information, career-related postings, and fellow alumni.

Joel Flagler CC’74, horticultural therapy professor and Bergen County extension agent, discusses how experiencing nature can boost mental health.
